THIS IS '70 . . .

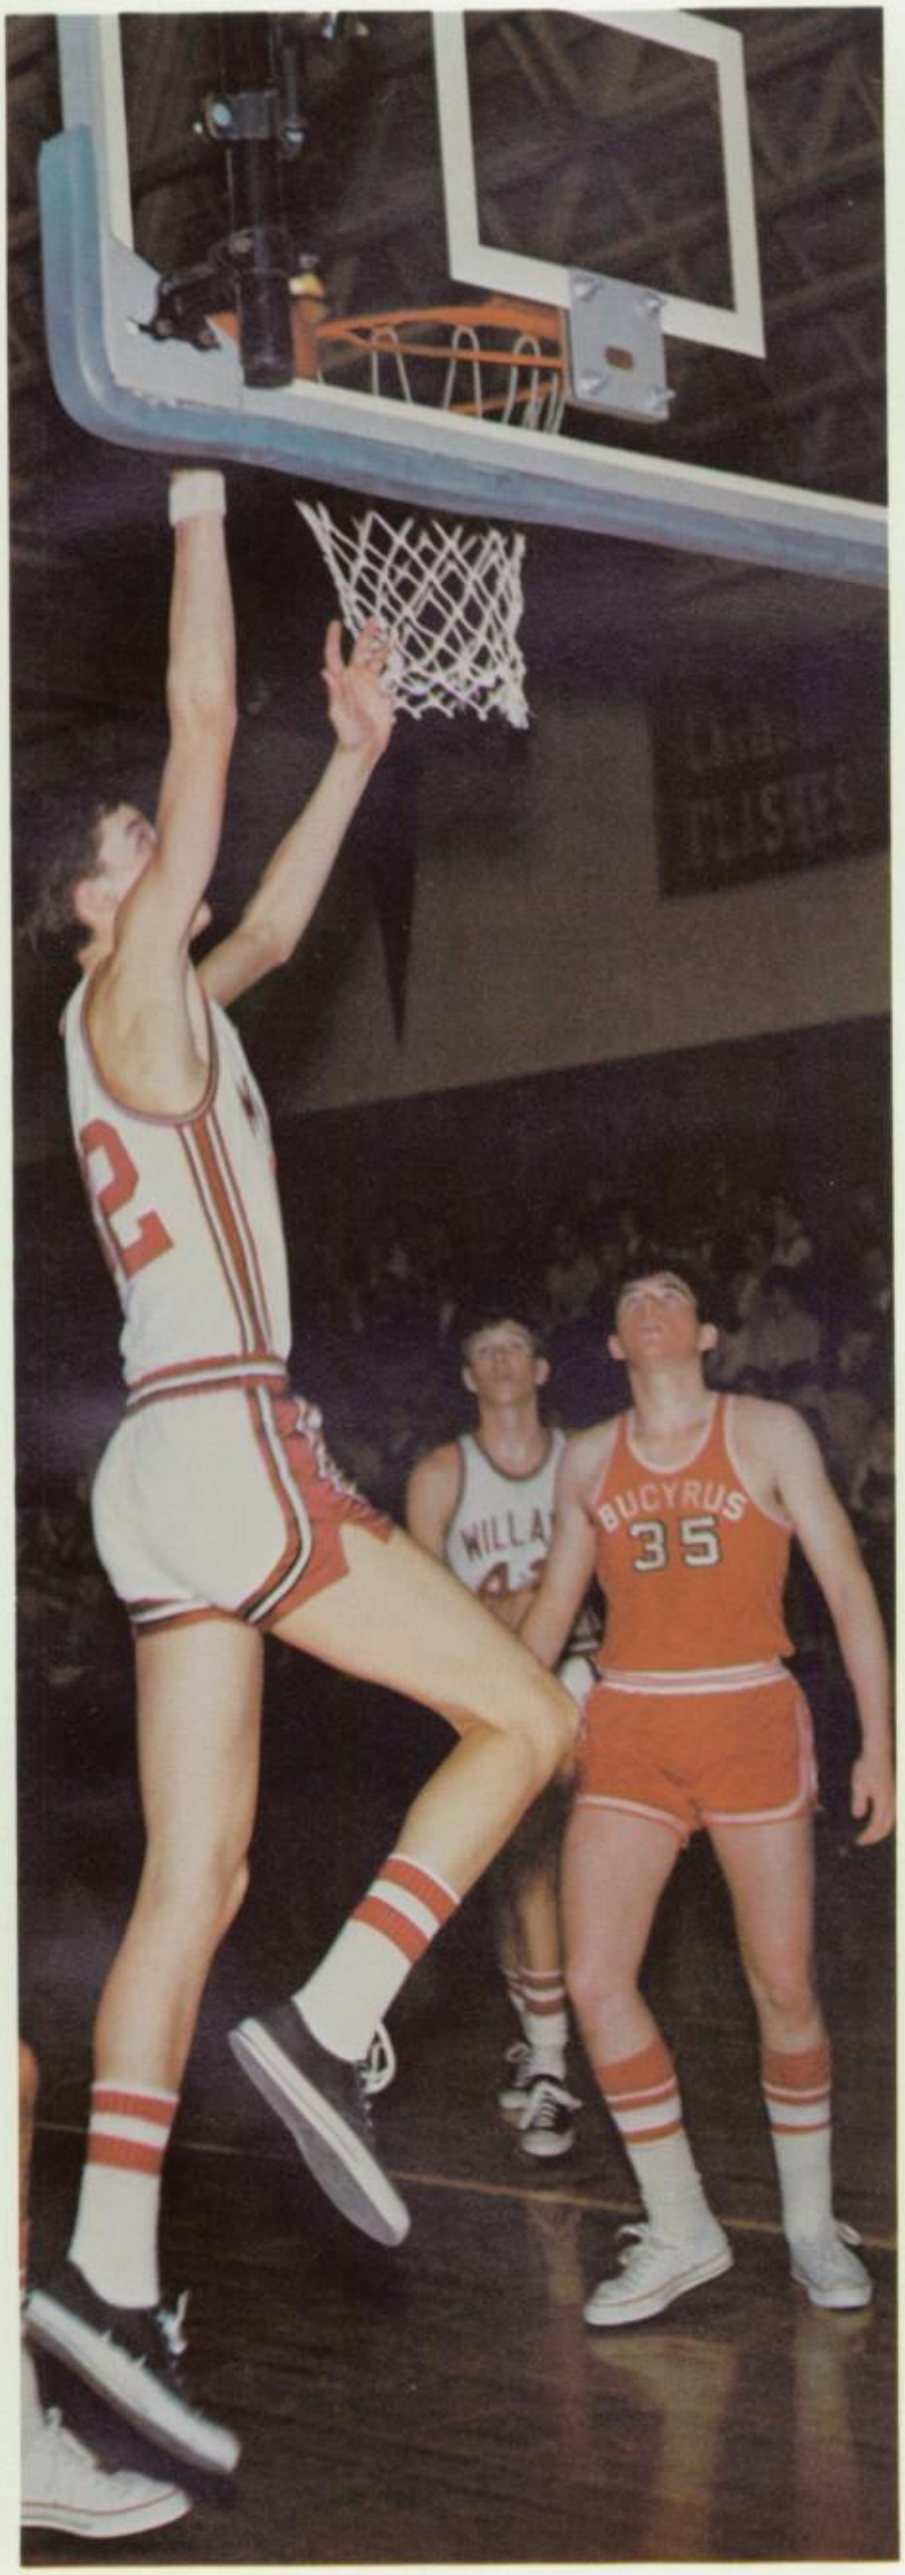
A thin slice of eternity.
An era of change sweeps over the nation and Willard High School. A new breed of student, a new breed of education. Experiencing the intangible. The year 1970.
A thin slice of eternity.

DRIVER EDUCATION CAR

The times they are a changin'.
Innovations. A new superintendent revises policies . . .
Peter Pan delights both matinee and evening audiences
. . . a new lunch program offers students a second choice
. . . a unique spirit booster flies over the football field
. . . a bonfire pep rally adds another dimension to spirit.
The times they are a changin'.

BEAT-GALIO

It's how you play the game.
Sports can best be remembered by the long hours of practice, the joy of victory, the agony of defeat. Memories of going out for all sports your freshman year, but having to accept the challenge of sitting on the bench. Yet finally comes the thrill of a coach's handshake and a white "W". Accomplishments.
It's how you play the game.



BUCYRUS

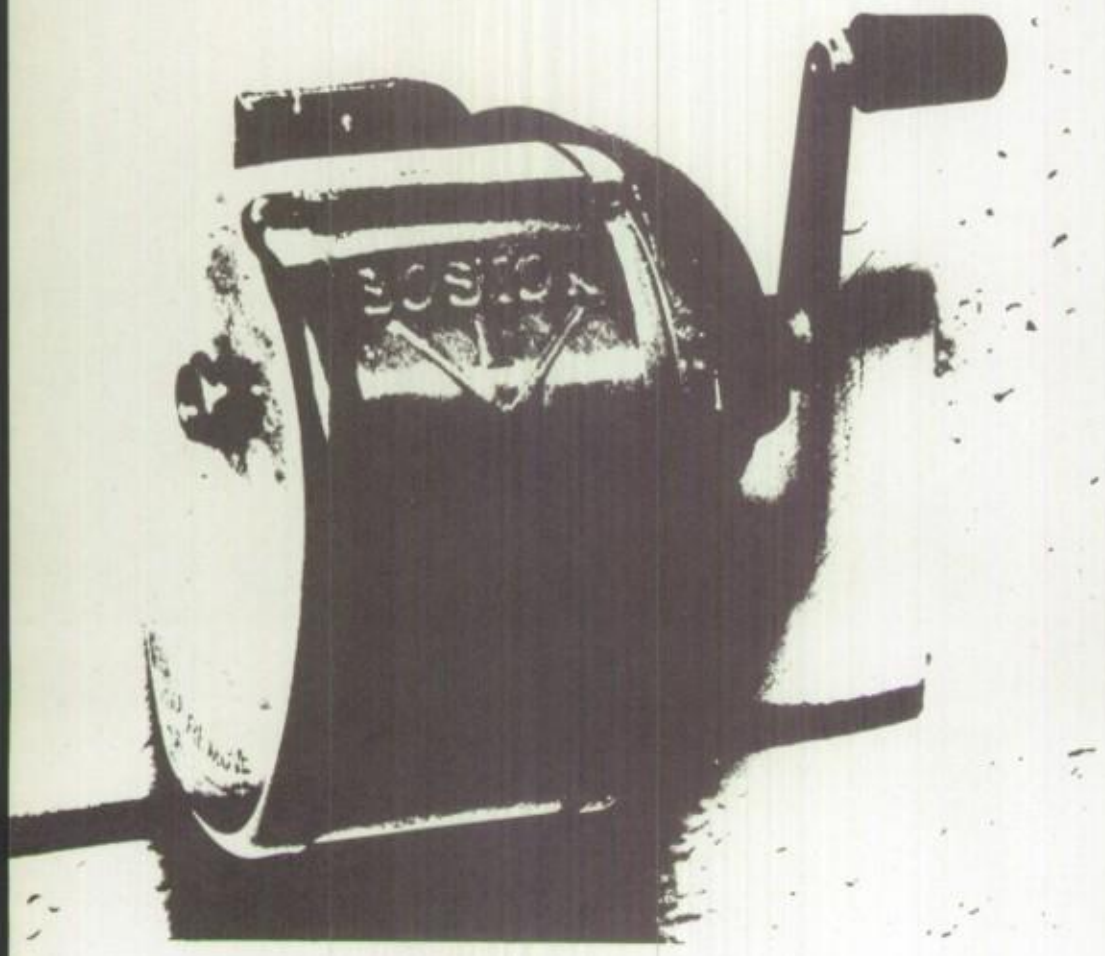
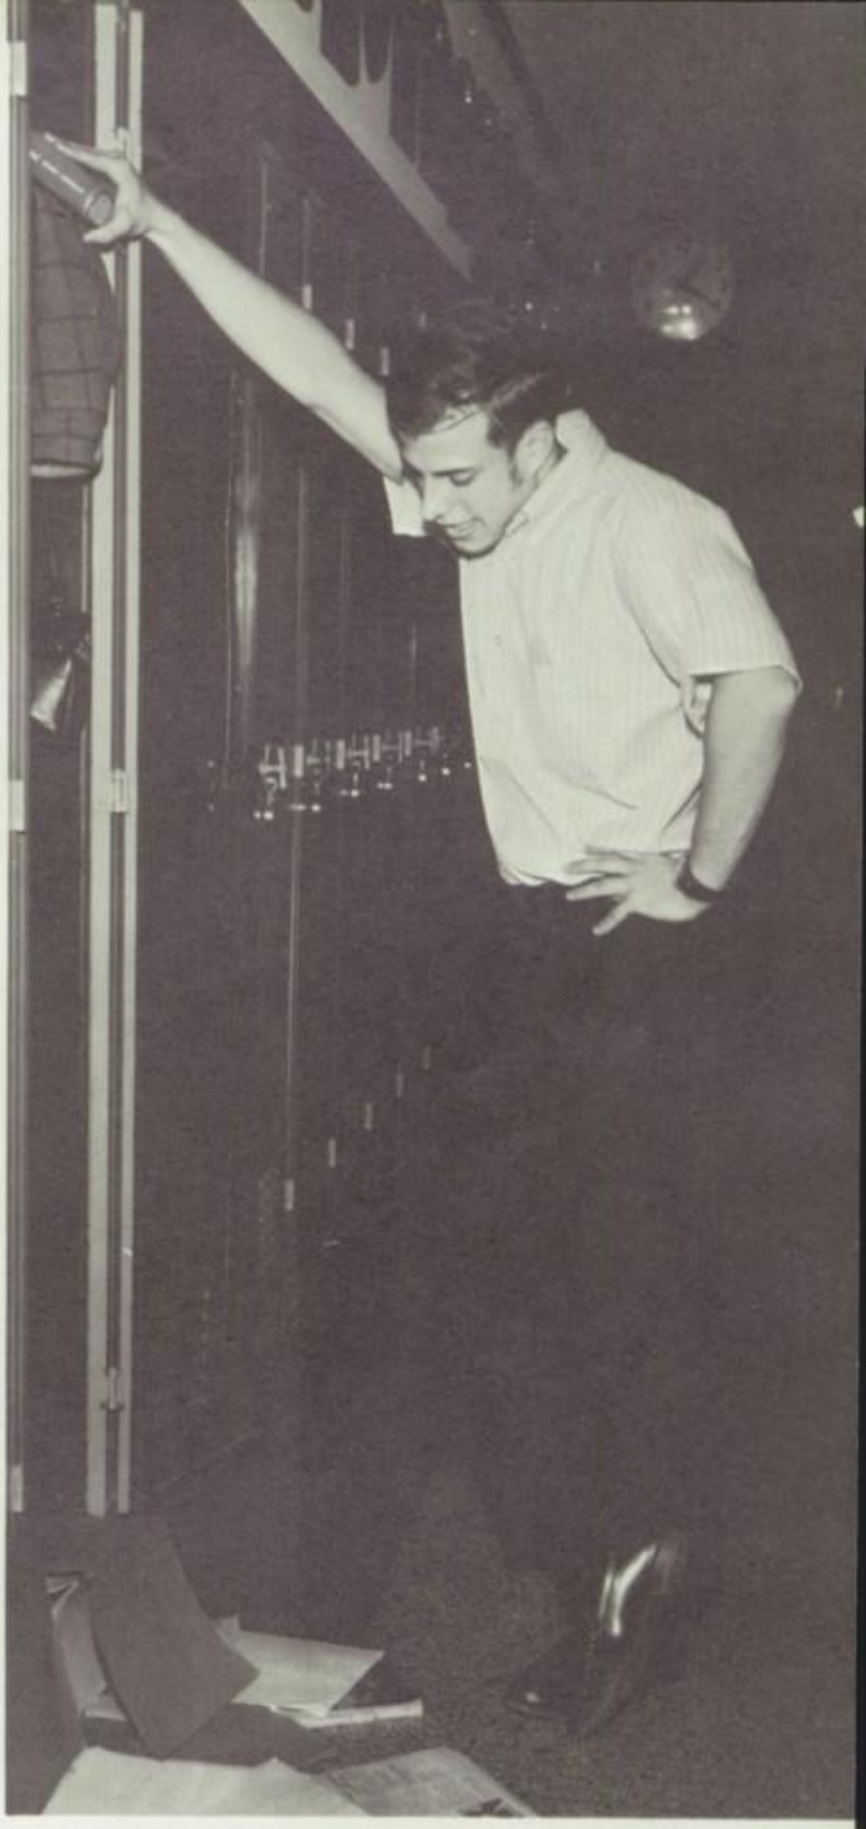
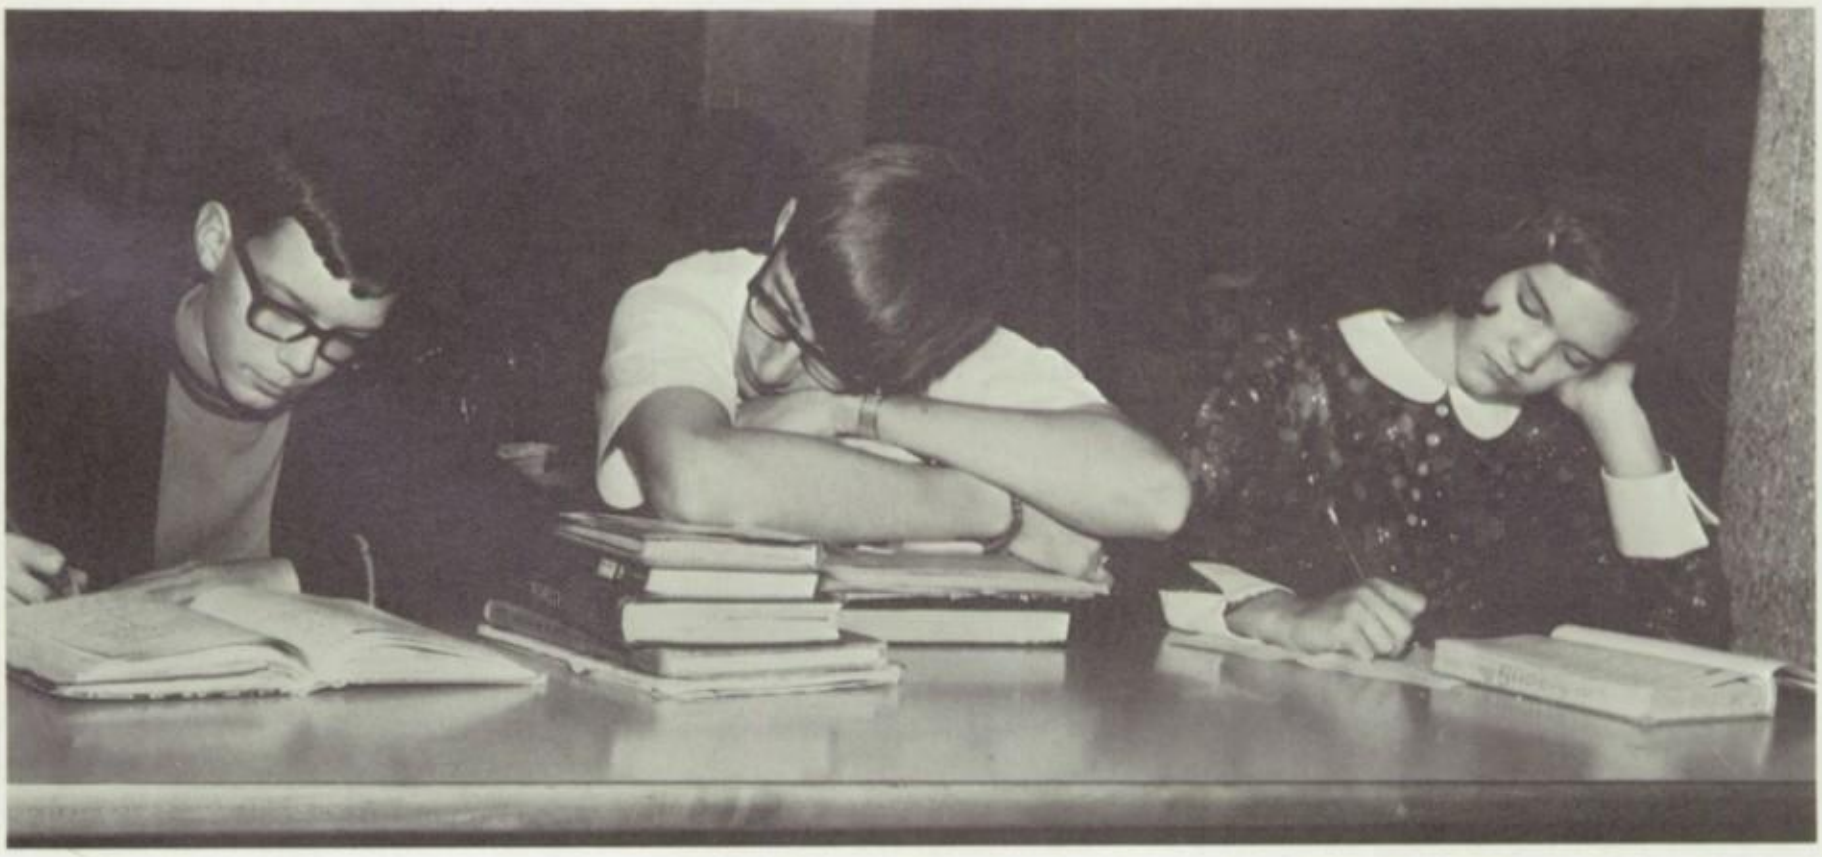
It starts in September, but it never ends.

Learning your part in choir . . . counting, and knowing there's only one more push-up to go . . . getting the feel of biology . . . opening your locker door to an avalanche . . . exploiting the advantages of study hall. The learning experience.

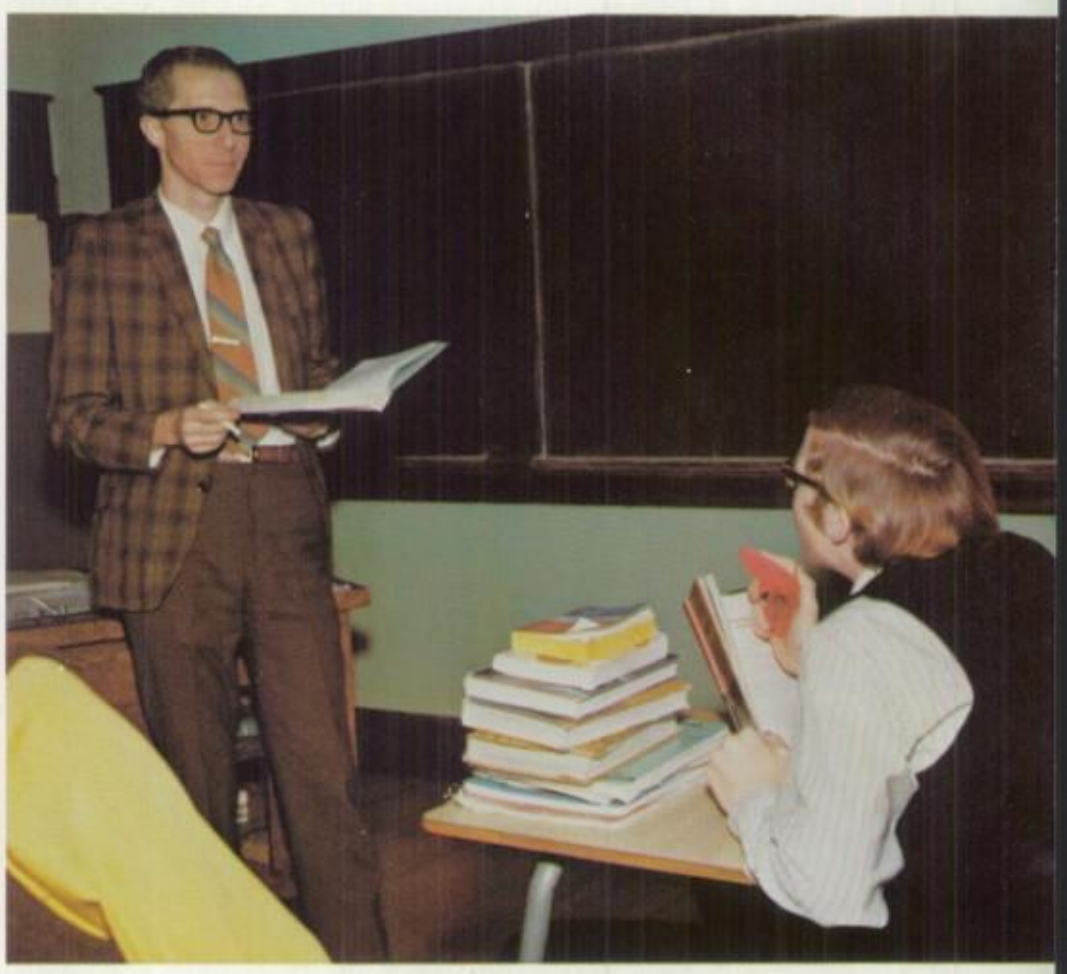
It starts in September, but it never ends.

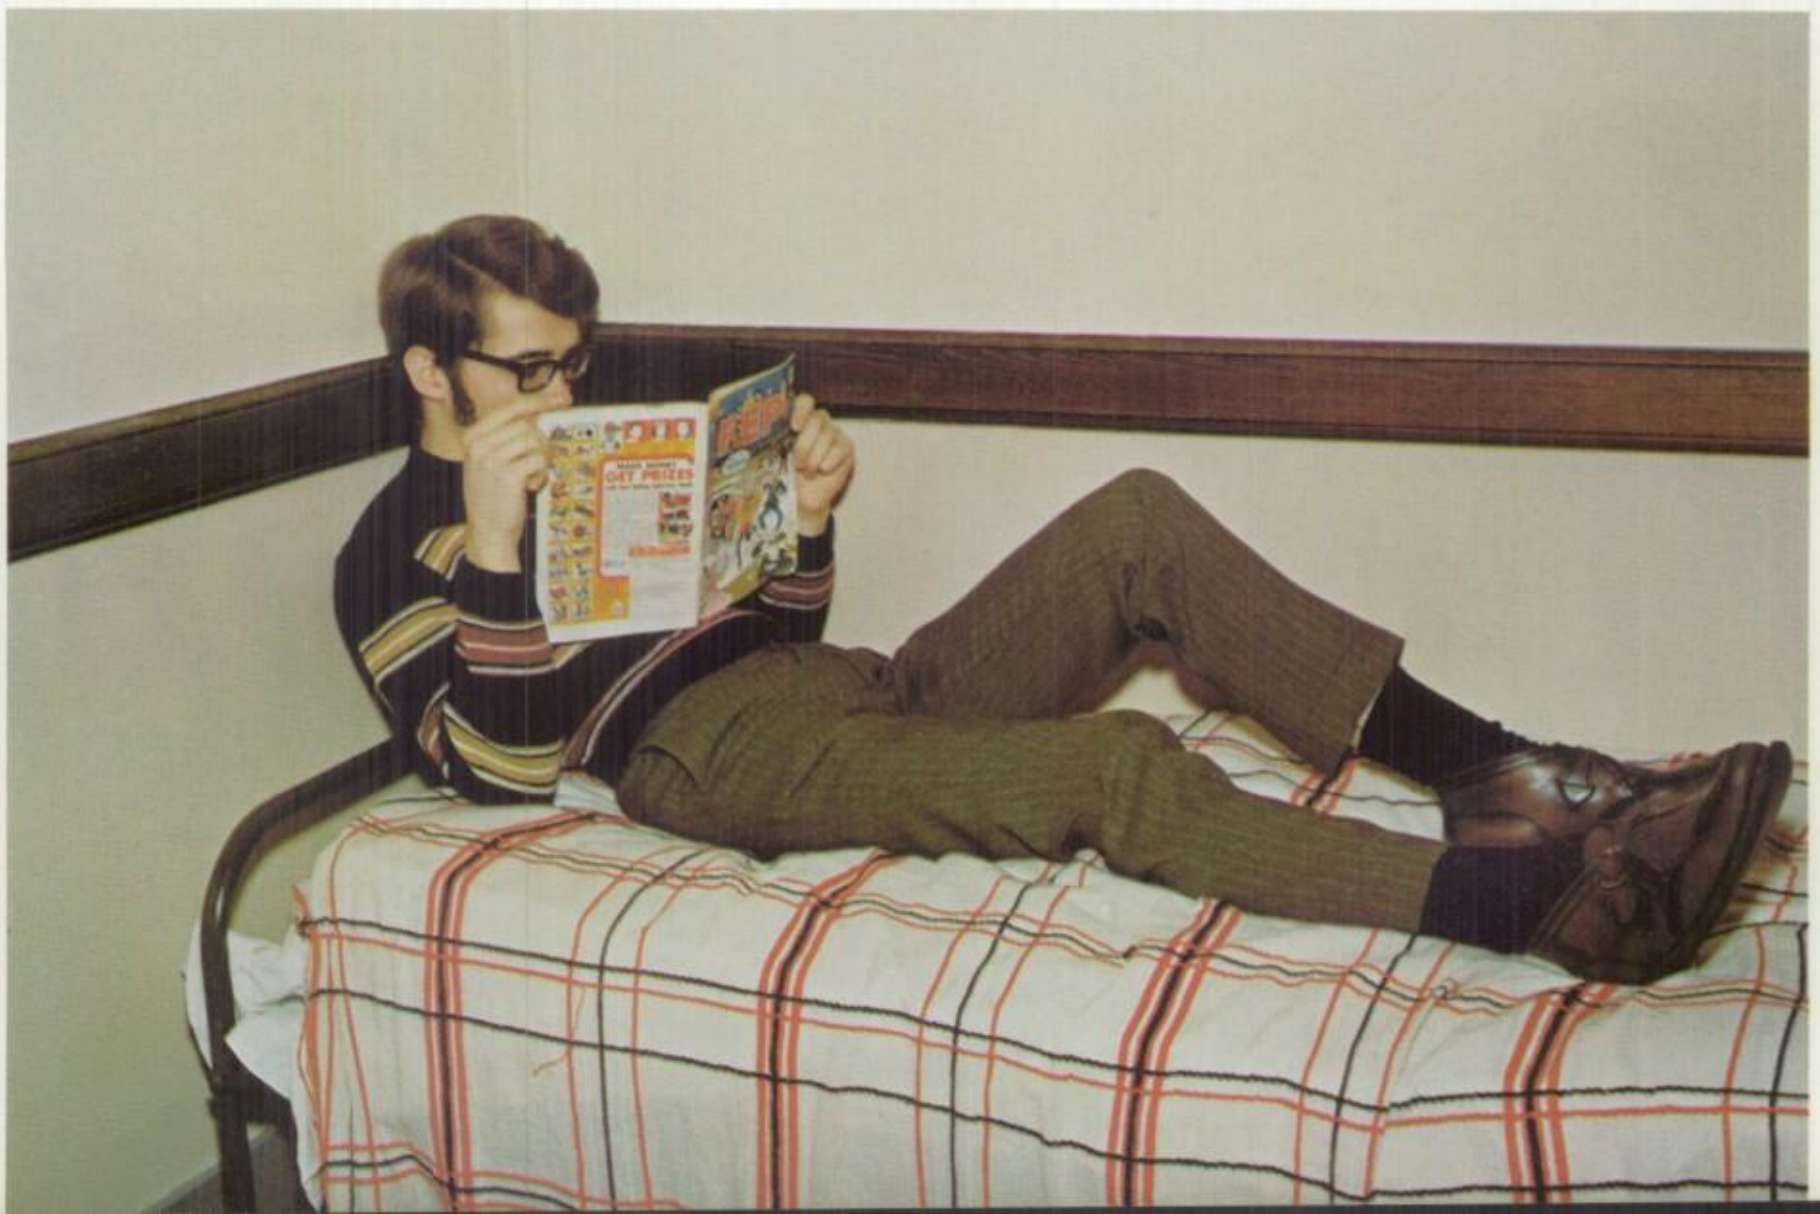






Freshmen . . . four years later.
Remember . . . when you got your first lock and forgot the combination . . . how you used to go to the sickroom to get out of class . . . when noise-makers were banned from the games . . . how hard you practiced for tryouts . . . how many times you've argued politely . . . how many pranks you've gotten away with . . . how many times you've been caught? Remember . . . ?
Freshmen . . . four years later.





FLASH!
FLASH!

It's a matter of finding your niche. The time of being a freshman is being new and wanting to belong. But being a freshman lasts only a year. The sophomores and juniors. Learning to be leaders. Not at the top, not at the bottom. The middle factors that blend the total picture.

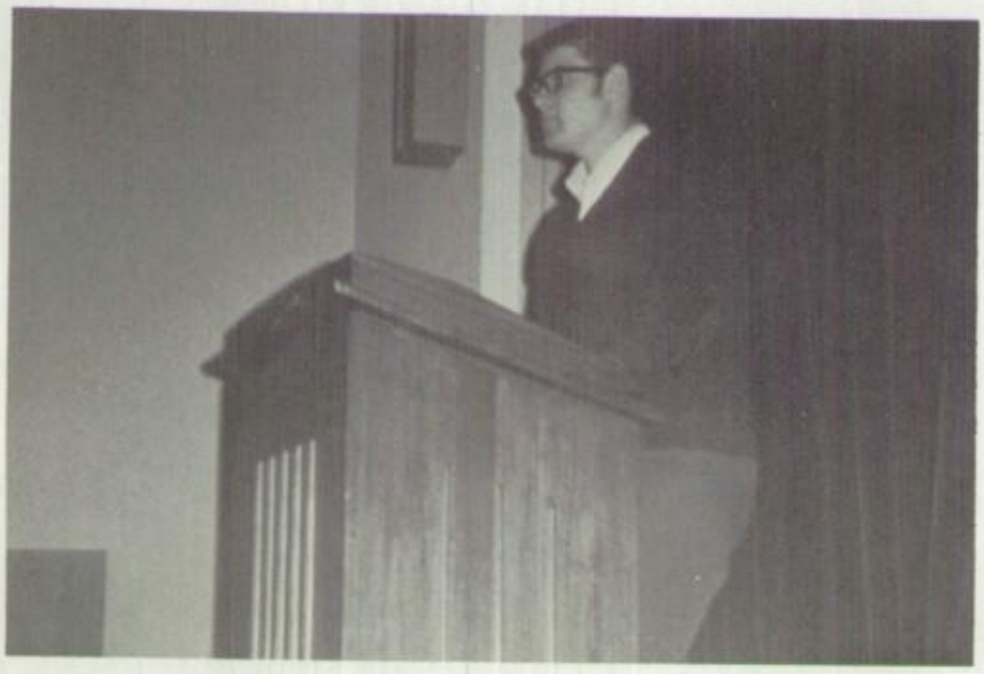
COUNCIL AIMS FOR STUDENT AWARENESS



Student Council's varied activities, encompassing every facet of Flashes life, were designed to educate the student about the outside world, involve him in student government, and improve his relationship with the faculty and administration. The council gained favor with the student body this year, through action which stemmed from last year's organization. The abolishment of the dress code provided for a more relaxed attitude between students and administration. Trying to involve students in a concern for national issues, the Council sponsored the Chicago Project with a great success. An attempt to spread interest throughout the school was the initiation of Government Week. In this way, the candidates for officers would be exposed to the student body prior to the elections to state their views on school policy.

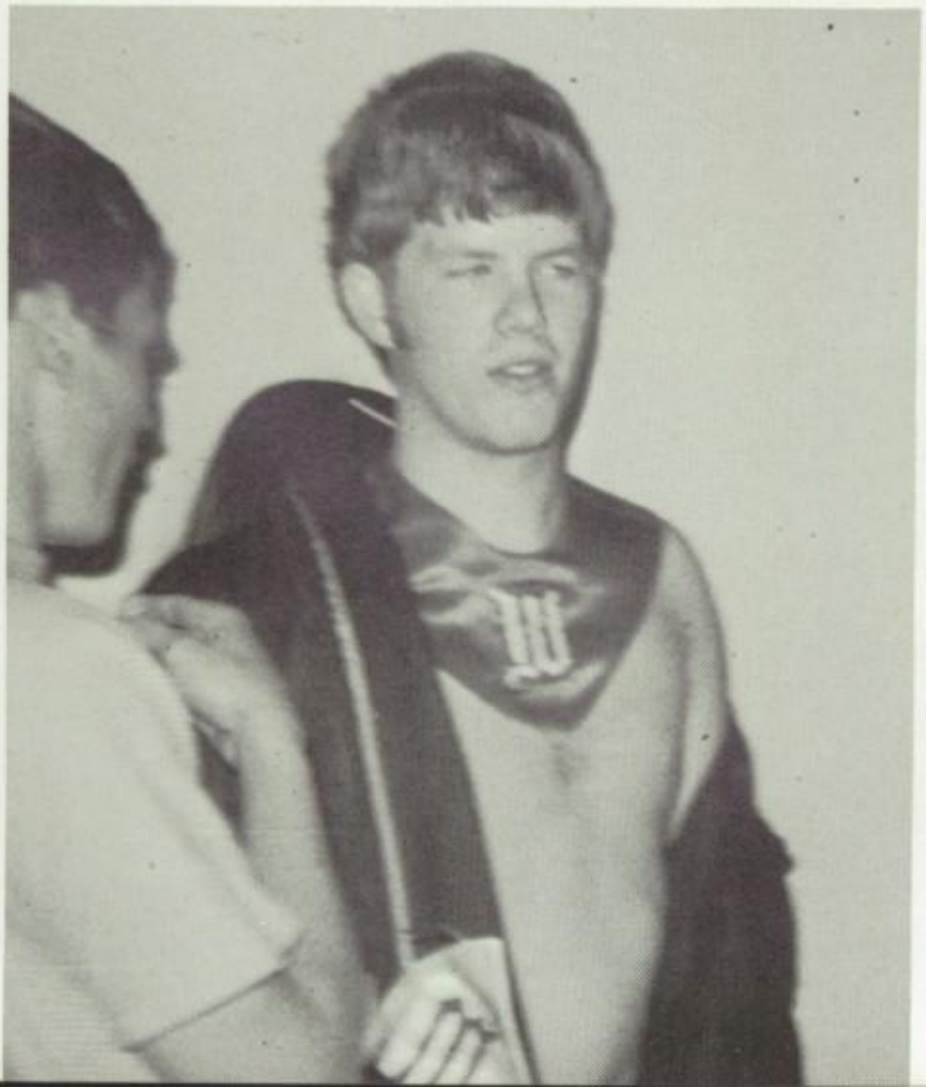
URDAY!" — MR. ROBERTS



"We got up in the early morning . . ." April 25 was the day — the long awaited day. State Choir Contest was finally here. After many weeks of practice, special sectionals, and an initiation ceremony, the choir boarded the buses early that morning and headed for Lexington. After singing in a small auditorium and waiting nearly an hour and a half for their rating, they received an excellent after singing superior music. But state contest was just one of the year's highlights. The choir performed for Open House, the school Thanksgiving assembly, a school Christmas assembly, district contest, the school Easter assembly, the NOL Festival with Upper Sandusky and Shelby, and the annual Spring Concert with the band and orchestra. The choir also provided music for baccalaureate and commencement. To earn money for new robes, music and contest, the members sold candy and liquid soap. The annual choir banquet was also held and members were presented with satirical awards they had earned during the year. The senior members also presented Mr. Roberts with a plaque to express their gratitude for the fine job he had done.

Giving up lunch hours and spending long hours after school were some of the sacrifices made by members of the choir who wished to participate in ensembles. The Chamber Ensemble performed at all choir concerts in their formals and tuxedos. The Girls' Class A, Boys' Class A, and Boys' Class B ensembles entered Solo and Ensemble Contest at Port Clinton. All returned with excellent ratings. These groups provided the students with opportunities to sing different types of music and compete with groups from other schools.

BAND OFFICERS: B. Hagerman, P. Smeltz, M. Adams, D. Alford, M. Drury.

After six weekly summer sessions, the band spent a full week at Lakeside, Ohio, in preparation for their marching season. This year the band presented many fine halftime shows such as a medley of show tunes, a history of music, and a patriotic show which featured the choir and was highlighted with fireworks. The band also featured other groups along with the majorettes, such as the cheerleaders, Don Hayes and Frank Ujvari on the drums, and a skit by Wayne Shupp and Randy Sommers. A new addition was the NOL flagbearers who performed drills and formations during the shows.

The concert band presented a mid-winter concert in February which featured a Dixieland group and a special number by the flute section. The band also participated in contest and received an excellent rating. Other public performances included an NOL festival with Norwalk and Galion and a spring concert. As the year concluded, the band returned to marching and participated in the Memorial Day Parade and the opening of Cedar Point.

Along with the concert and marching bands, the instrumental music department is divided into many other groups and ensembles. These included the pep band, stage band, brass choir, clarinet choir, woodwind quintet, and trumpet quartet. The band began concert practice after a thrilling marching season. The pep band added spirit to the basketball games and pep rallies. The stage band performed its first inter-school concert and the ensembles prepared for contest and returned with varied ratings. Many of these groups performed for the Music Study Club and at the mid-winter and spring concerts.

WILLARD'S MAJORETTES ARE BEST IN LEAGUE

"And now for your half-time entertainment . . ." So started the introduction of the 1969 majorettes. Leading the Flashes band during football season was one of their many activities. Head majorette Barb Eitle and Jacki Stotz attended majorette camp the previous summer, and Barb returned with a first place ribbon for solo twirling. Peggy Postema and Patti Smeltz attended a clinic on hoop baton twirling. The girls taught baton lessons to earn money for costumes, hoop batons, flags and pom-poms. The girls performed for the Halloween, Miss Flame, Cedar Point and Memorial Day Parades. They also presented a half-time show at a basketball game this year. Nightly practices, band camp and baton lessons contributed to making this years majorette corp one of the best Willard, or even the league, has ever seen.

Girls Athletic Association was moved to the afternoons this year. The new president, Merri Wiers, began the activity with basketball. Later in the year, the members competed in volleyball and then switched to playing softball outside. Each class competed against the others in some sport throughout the year.

Boys who have earned a varsity letter in athletics are eligible for membership in Varsity "W." These boys help in running athletic events when they themselves are not involved. The Pep Club took an active part in creating an atmosphere of school spirit through the display of crimson and white which constitute their new uniforms. The girls held their practices on Tuesday nights under the direction of their president, Mary Ellen Fogt, and the cheerleaders. The club was present at all home basketball games, and sat together as a club during pep rallies.

CHESS CLUB, DRIVER'S ED ADD NEW DIMENSIONS

Two new activities were added to W.H.S. this year. They were the Chess Club and the Driver's Education program. The Chess Club was an intra-scholastic organization. Its purpose was to stimulate interest in the school to build up a strong program and hopefully establish compeition with other schools. The Driver's Education program introduced many new additions this year also. The training was split into two parts — the classroom and the actual driving. In the first phase of the curriculum, a Willard policeman lectured on driving rules and regulations and gave demonstrations of the breathalizers, devices used by local police to detect alcohol on a motorist's breath. Also Mr. Bruce Bellard from Bowling Green talked and showed films on driving safety. In the driving phase of the course, students got first hand experience at the wheel. After the first nervousness was overcome, driver's ed cars were seen cruising around town everyday after school and Saturday mornings. The fleet of training cars which included three new ones this year were donated by local dealers.

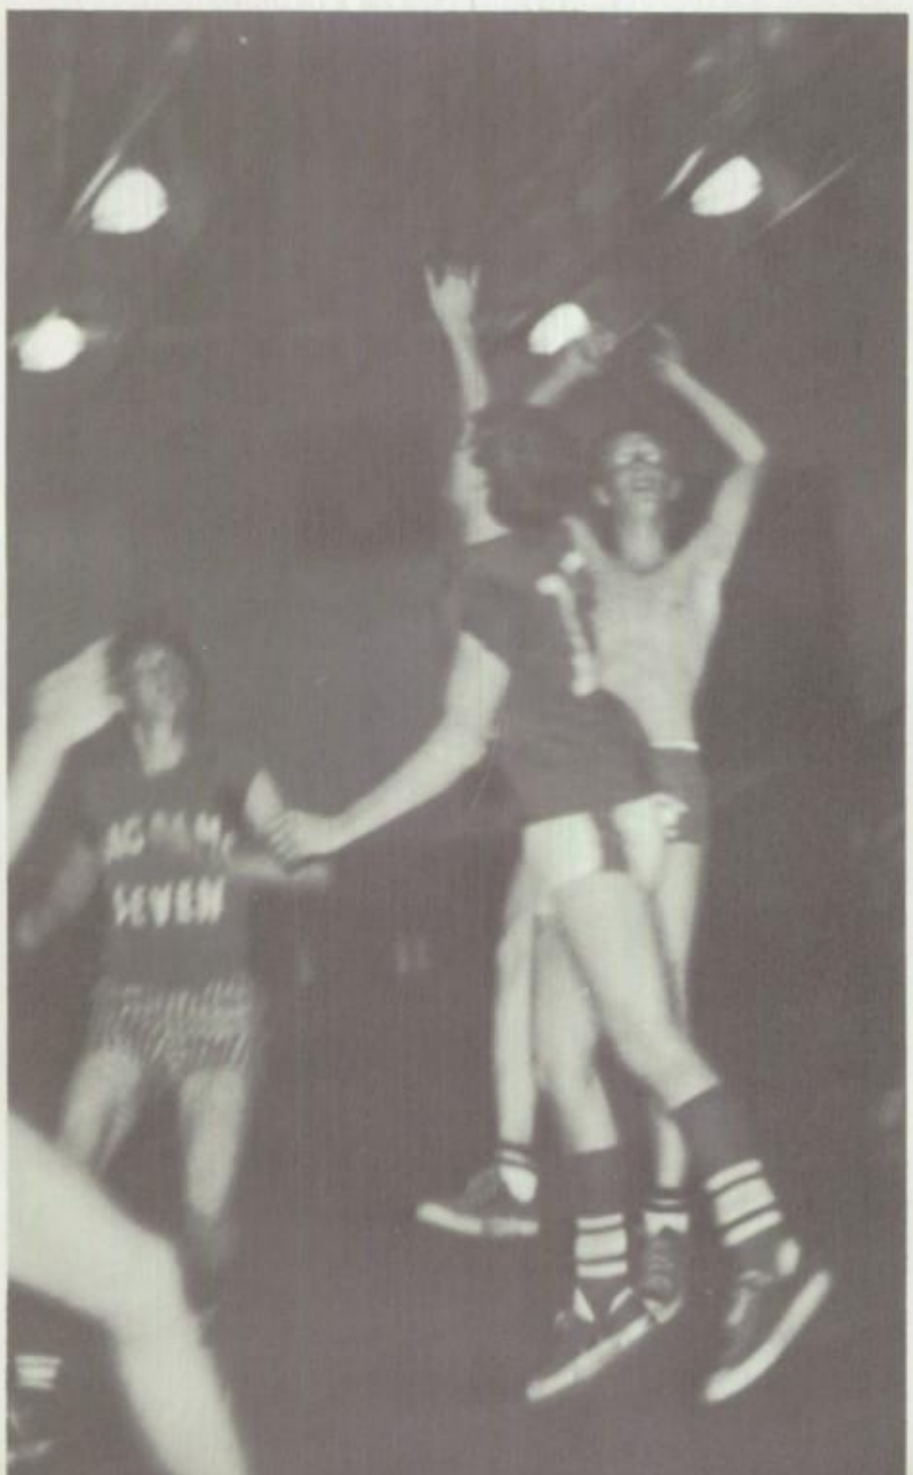
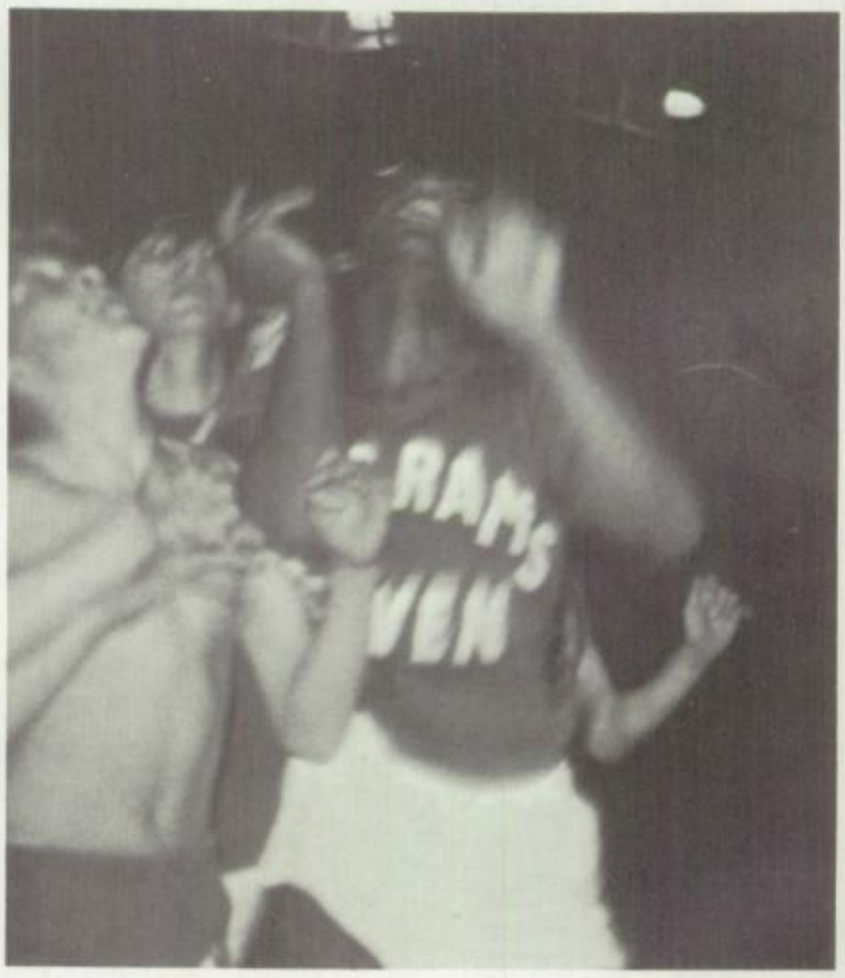
SEAGRAMS SEVEN CAPTURES INTRAMURALS TITLE





Between 7 and 9 o'clock every Monday night this winter, the Seagram's Seven basketball squad dominated the boys' intramurals program. The thrill of playing often reached its peak as some of the "officials" entered in play, or as their lives were being threatened. For those boys who did not participate on any coach's team, this unorganized activity provided a good excuse for a week night out of the house.

CHIEF '70 BREAKS WITH TRADITION

Striving for a yearbook of today to contain memories of the past for reference in the future, CHIEF '70 selected the theme "This is '70." This year the book employed candid shots and colored pictures to illustrate the various activities and people at W.H.S. Many new photographic techniques were used in order to increase the artistic quality of the book. Picking a theme was only the beginning. The days that followed were filled with deadlines, late pages, over-exposed pictures, trip's to Mihali's, and little sleep. Almost everyone on the staff learned to write good copy, take decent pictures, and plan layouts. CHIEF '70 is definitely a book for the people, by the people.

The C&W strove for individuality this year, but did not always make it. The "Baby of the Month" feature was the innovation with most reader interest. "The Brighter Side" ran a close second with an eight-page collection of gossip and "jokes" which delighted all but those involved. The C&W was furthered crippled with financial difficulties. Two bake sales alleviated the problem somewhat, but did not entirely remedy it. However, the same last minute stories and trips to Shelby for proofreading, proves that no one's perfect, certainly not a newspaper staff.

DEBATE: L. Stout, J. Kraft, D. Cherry, H. Firestine, K. Taylor, R. Sommers, D. Hicks.

Quality rather than quantity seemed to be the most appropriate word to describe the speech club this year. Although the club was comprised of just a handful of people, the individual speakers often returned with top ratings. Janet Wieringa and David Sullivan received a first and third rating respectively at district contest which enabled them to attend state speech contest at Ohio State.

COE STUDENTS WORK FOR LOCAL BUSINESSES

Cooperative Occupational Education provides an opportunity for girls in school to complete their requirements for graduation and work in local businesses at the same time. Job vacancies are made known to the school by possible employers and girls fill the positions as they become eligible for work. Girls are employed in the hospital, school, bank and other local businesses which offer them invaluable training during high school. Subjects geared to their profession are offered with the required courses during the morning before they leave school. This program provides classroom instruction and valuable on-the-job-training, as well as a regular income.

POSSIBLE CAREERS EXAMINED BY FTA

FTA adviser, Miss Hastings, makes arrangements for upcoming teaching assignments.

Guest speakers, teaching assignments, films, and selling paperback books were all part of the program that was provided for the Future Teachers of America this year. They earned points for their pins by ushering the Open House activities and running score sheets at the Science Fair. Also, by selling books in the library, they earned money for the group, as well as individual points. In the fall, they gained actual experience as they took on teaching jobs in the local schools.

WILLARD BRINGS BACK ONE OF THREE TOP STATE SCIENCE AWARDS

As one of three schools taking top honors at the state science fair, W.H.S. future scientists returned with a well-earned trophy. The requirement for this award was that eighty per cent of the school's entries receive superiors. Tom Miller's "Behavior of White Rats," Jenny Nelson's "Infinity," Mark Heisler's "Probability," and Charles Luna's "Snail Embryology" earned superior ratings. Receiving an excellent rating from the judges was Ike Costein for his project "The Laser." This comprised the top students of the six qualified to compete at state.

OFFICERS ATTEND SEMINAR AT CAMP MUSKINGUM

This year the FFA selected delegates to attend the Wilmington College Agricultural Club to study animal husbandry and judging livestock. They also sent their officers to an officers training seminar at Camp Muskingham early in the fall, to learn about running an effective chapter.

Following the state theme of the Future Homemakers of America, the local chapter planned activities for fun and education around the theme "Know, Care and Do — The World Awaits You." Speakers, tours, meetings, and service to school and community functions kept forty girls busy during the year. Delegates were chosen to attend the sub-regional meeting and State Convention to represent the Willard group.

Keeping a library in running condition requires much tedious work. Certainly not the work of Mrs. Coleman alone, responsibilities are delegated to library monitors, who sacrifice study halls to help. Overdue books, card catalogue, periodicals, records, films and unknowledgeable students are only some of the nightmares these girls undergo.

1969 WEEKEND

The spirit which usually surrounds the Homecoming festivities seemed to be lacking this year. In the pre-game ceremonies, Sue Thornton, the 1969 queen was escorted onto the field by Dave Frye, a student council representative, and crowned by last year's queen Betty Winemiller. As the Flashes were defeated by the Upper Sandusky Rams, the band presented a halftime show tracing the history of music. At the Saturday night Homecoming dance, attendance was low as the court and queen were presented. Music was provided by Paul Zweidinger's band. Decorations for the dance were set up by the Junior class, and pre-game ceremonies were arranged by the student council.

FANTASY PETER PAN

Willard audiences were given a taste of a different form of theatre this year, a fantasy. A note of skepticism prevailed in early weeks of practice. Would the student body and the town accept what had been considered to be a "children's play?" The number of people in attendance proved that they would.

After breakfasting at the L&K, the cast rushed over to the high school to prepare for two matinees for elementary students. The understudies performed in the morning and the regular cast at night. "Peter Pan" provided a lot of firsts for WHS. The first matinees, the first experiences with understudies, the professional touch added by the use of flying equipment. The play proved a success, and delighted both children and adult audiences.

HUNDRED YEARS

This year the Thespians introduced fantasy to their audiences — first in the fall play, "Peter Pan," and then in the spring musical, "Brigadoon." "Brigadoon" was presented to capacity audiences, along with several rehearsal performances for speech and theatre classes. This was the first year for such things as an all-school orchestra, the use of two scrims, different lighting effects produced by new border lights, and the creation of costumes by the home economics classes.

The secrets of Brigadoon are revealed to Jeff and Tommy by Mr. Lundie and Fiona.

JOAN COK AND DALE SLATER ARE 1970 ROYAL COUPLE

Prom entertainment evolved around the theme "Underwater Fantasy." The dance was the culmination of months of planning, a week of decorating, hours of preparation and moments of anxiety. Excitement grew as the new prom queen and her prince charming were to be announced. The junior class chose Joan Cok to reign with Dale Slater, Prince Charming. A movie shown in the gymnasium was sponsored by the senior class as an after-prom activities.

May 29, 1970, officially proclaimed as "Awards Day", climaxed the school year. Sixth and seventh periods of that day were set aside for presenting the top awards of 1970. Don Wilson was given the top athletic award, the Harlow Staph Athletic Trophy. Having lettered in football, basketball and track, he fulfilled the requirements of having two varsity letters and was the choice of the judges. Becky Hagerman was the recipient of the Sharick's Jewelers award for the outstanding speaker of 1969-70. Marla Adams, for her participation in band, orchestra and other instrumental groups received the John Philip Sousa Award. Mary Leitz was presented with the Business and Professional Womens Award. Don Wilson and Marla Adams received Amercan Legion "I Dare You" Awards. Tom Miller scored the highest among the senior math students and was presented a fifty dollar savings bond and the Paul Hargrove Math Award. Jon Moll was voted by the members of Symphonic Choir to be the recipient of the senior choir members. Other athletic, scholastic and music awards were presented to deserving students.

FOOTBALL — IT COULD HAVE BEEN BETTER

It was a year when you were "cliched" to death. All the old, trite, withered sayings were dug out and used: "Those darn refs" and "Wait 'til next year" were two of the more prevalent ones. The fact that the Crimson Flashes did not win one game, however, does not take away any of the luster of the scrappiness of the ball team.

It was a difficult season to endure. Not only for the players, but for Coach Larry Cook as well. It was disappointing, but we learned from it. It was a season of maturing. With only nine returning lettermen, the gridders, who were used to controlled, classy playing, had to learn to scrap and fight.

There were good things that came from the season, however, the August conditioning sessions proved to be a valuable asset to maintain a low injury rate. The ability to bounce back from a defeat each week and to approach each game with a fresh outlook, was one of the characteristics of sportsmanship the boys displayed.

BASKETBALL — MISSED IT BY THAT MUCH

Basketball seemed to be one disappointment and frustration after another. With only two lettermen returning, the squad had to adjust to being a unit of players. But the team never disappointed the fans. The end of the season saw several heartbreakers and more than enough close calls. Coach Gill made some rare accomplishments in his first year of coaching for Willard. He immediately established rapport and worked along the theory that basketball should emphasize the enjoyment of playing as well as winning. In view of the season, he said, "I hope that I have created a game that is exciting not only to the players, but to the fans as well." This year five of the hardwood players were graduating seniors. Recognition for a fine performance during the season went to Dale Slater, First String, All-NOL, and Mike Buurma and Dave Frye, Honorable Mention, All-NOL.

HAVOC GETS GOLFERS

Pine Needles Country Club in Pine Needles, South Carolina served as the home for the annual spring golf outing. This year six of the varsity golfers went east during Easter vacation. The squad started their season with a home match, tying their league opponent Shelby. Their next five matches were on the road, which proved to be a handicap for the team. The boys then returned to the home links to win their next two matches. This year, all the members of the varsity squad were first year men. The final season record was 3-10-1, but the future shows potential. To broaden interest in the sport, freshmen and reserve squads have emerged, and next year the team will have three returning lettermen, with a backlog of underclassmen.

The Crimson Flashes went into the season expecting to mature, and possibly contend for the league title. With only two seniors, Willard's squad was regarded as a dark-horse. The team's potential was brought into focus in its second game, with Dale Slater on the mound pitching a no-hitter. Two home runs were hit this year, each by Lanny Jackson in the final games against Galion and Bucyrus. For the first time an All-NOL baseball team was named by recomendation of the NOL coaches. Dale Slater was named All-NOL pitcher, and Steve Schlatter received All-NOL third baseman. Lanny Jackson took a berth on the Honorable Mention squad, placing as first baseman.

More track meets, encompassing three squads, and more student backing were two significant qualities marking 1970 track. Bill Grossman broke the 440 record with a time of 51.4. In the mile relay, Gene Weaver, Randy Moore, Dennis Simpson and Bill Grossman posted a time of 3:36.7. Don Wilson set a record in the 120 low hurdles with a 14.3, and Dave Coe in the 180 low hurdles with a 21.5, and in the 480 yard shuttle hurdles John Dove, Dave Coe, Mark Shininger and Don Wilson posted a 63.4. In summing up the year, Coach Adams said, "This was a season for rebuilding. With only two seniors and four juniors, the majority of the squad was made up of sophomores. I'm looking for a better squad next season, and feel in two years the cindermen will be contending for the league championship."

ATHLETICS UNDERGO YEAR OF MATURING

The position of athletic director changed hands this year. Succeeding David Hirshey, was George Gaich, formerly freshman football coach and assistant varsity coach, he maintained these jobs in addition to his new assignment. Coach Jack Gill, from Vandalia-Butler High School in Vandalia, Ohio, came to Willard assuming the role of varsity basketball coach. Richard Tubaugh, accepting his first full-time teaching position after graduating from Bowling Green, assisted in varsity football and baseball, and coached the freshman basketball squad.

Athletics requires a background of knowledge of a sport and perception of a players potential and limitation. The coaching faculty of Willard High School works, for the benefit of its athletes, as a unit, providing its students with an excellent insight to the world of competition.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS VOTED "GRAND CHAMPIONS" AT ICF CAMP

The cheerleaders won a championship of their own this year, as they returned with top honors from an ICF camp. A combination of spirit and ability were criterion for judging. Willard's skit, a parody on the instructor's themselves, was the highlight of the giant pep rally. The other cheerleaders chanted, "Willard's number one, second to none!" as the results were announced. Back in Willard the cheerleaders readied themselves for a rather dissappointing but enjoyable football season. A hair-raising basketball season made cheerleading even more exciting. Willard's most athletic cheerleaders to date, incorporated cartwheels, splits and mounts into their cheers.

Included in the cheerleaders duties making and selling booster badges for every football and basketball game, teaching youngsters in the YMCA program cheers on Saturday mornings, making signs for the locker room and school weekly, planning pep rallies, raising money for the cheerleading fund on tag day in August, selling programs at both football and basketball games, creating a display case to illustrate all aspects of cheerleading, appearing in a half-time show with the band, teaching girls who wish to try out cheers at clinic in the spring, and the required weekly practices.

To help earn money, several of the girls pulled onions in a field at Holthouse Brothers on Homecoming morning. Though not required of the girls, the varsity cheerleaders gave a swimming party for the football team, as well as serving watermelon after a hot evening August practice. During basketball season they hosted a Christmas party for the players. But cheerleading was not without its rewards. Friendships with cheerleaders from other schools lasted beyond the seasons of sore muscles and nervous excitement.

CLASSES

The Freshmen.
One quarter of a cycle completed. The Class of '73 elected Chris Cok to be their first President. One of his duties was to escort Freshman Attendant Nancy Thompson to the weekend's festivities. The feeling of being soon wore off as students engaged themselves in activities outside the classroom. Freshmen eagerly showed their aptitude for getting involved with the school, and becoming a vital, functioning part of Willard High School. Compiling money for their treasury was one of the classes jobs. This was done by sponsoring dances after both football and basketball games, and by working the coat check. After their first year of high school, the Freshmen are eager to advance to the niche of sophomores.

The Sophomores.

The "Class of 1972" entered its second year at Willard High School with one hundred ninety-seven enthusiastic students. One of the first steps for becoming sophomores was the selection of their five student council representatives last spring during Government Week. In September, they, with other classes, chose officers. Bob Frederick won the honor of being president. In early October the Sophs chose Charlene Piller as Homecoming Attendant at the second annual semi-formal Homecoming Dance. The Sophomores earned money by sponsoring dances after both football and basketball games. Another major activity was the selection of their class rings in the spring. Just before graduation it was their duty to decorate the gym for the Baccalaureate Service. Although the Sophomores have finished only half of their high school career, they still have excelled in many fields besides academics. They are active in many extra-curricular activities. The "Class of 1972" looks forward to its Junior year with a feeling of excitement.

The Juniors.
270° of a complete revolution. The class is led by Don Hayes, who represents the Juniors at the first event of the year, Homecoming 1969, escorting their attendant Joan Cok. It was the classes' responsibility to decorate the gym for the semi-formal dance on Saturday night. The magazine sales offer the class an opportunity to earn enough money to put on their successful Junior-Senior Prom in the spring. With class colors, motto and flower chosen, the occasion is planned successfully. All in all, the Juniors comprise a vital portion of WHS. They excell in music, art, academics, athletics, theatrics, and many other aspect of life at WHS. At the close of their third year, the Juniors look ahead to their Senior year with a feeling of anticipation.

The Seniors.

It has been a very good year for the class of '70. The years have really flown. It seems like only yesterday we entered for the first time. Can you remember our first pep rally? Our first Homecoming? Our first exams? Ugh! It's great to be out!! Or is it? Was it really that bad? Remember when we were freshmen? We had our very own team. We had to learn which stairs to go up and down on. Then we were sophomores. Remember picking out our class rings? We were the inbetween class, not little frosh, but not upperclassmen either. Then we were juniors. Wasn't it fun decorating for the Prom? And finally we were Seniors. It sure seems important to be upperclassmen, but it is probably because we are being turned out into the world to help build it. Is that what our teachers have been trying to tell us all along? Funny we never realized it until now.

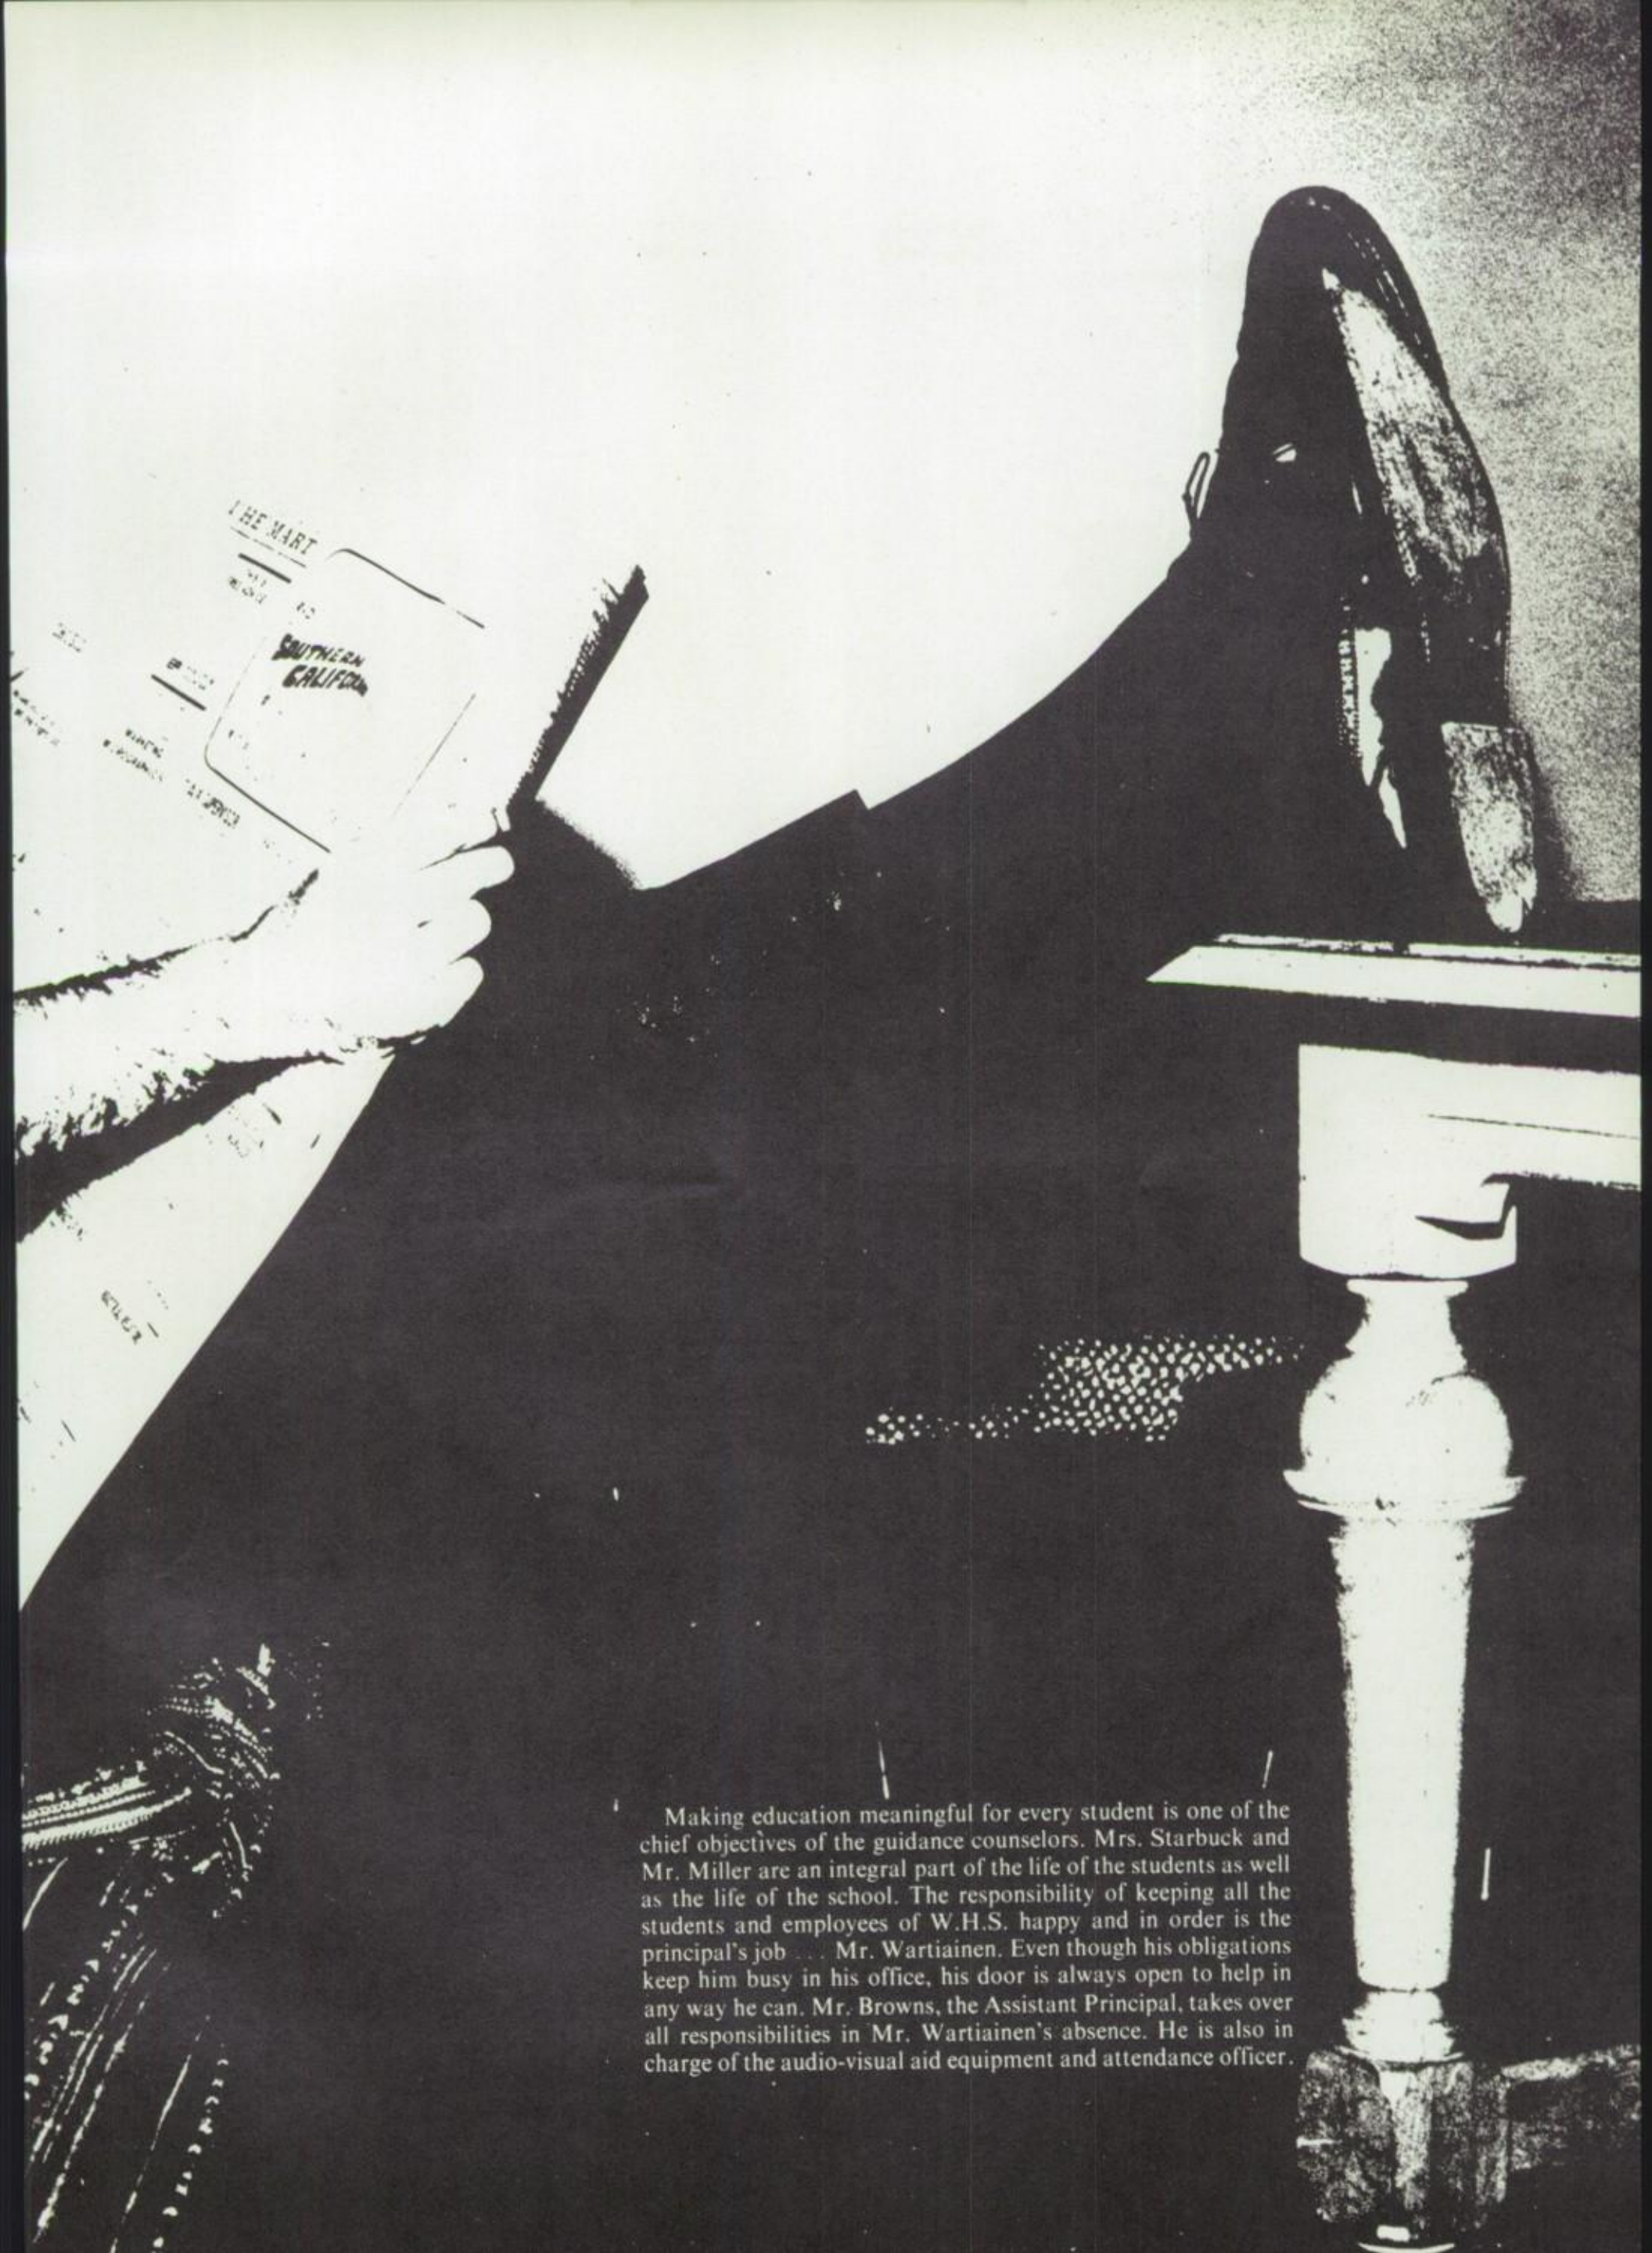
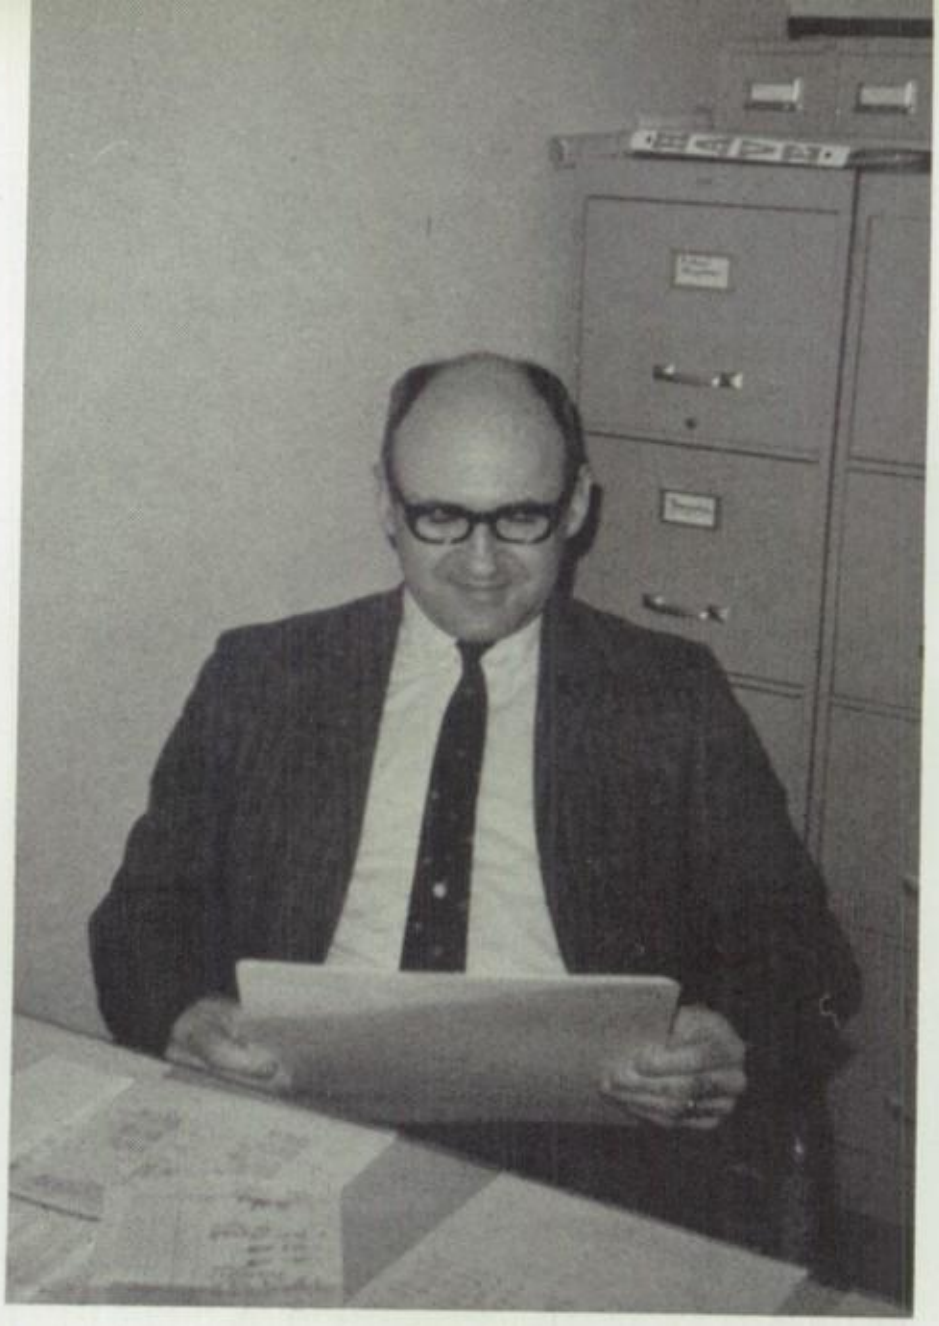
FACULTY



Making education meaningful for every student is one of the chief objectives of the guidance counselors. Mrs. Starbuck and Mr. Miller are an integral part of the life of the students as well as the life of the school. The responsibility of keeping all the students and employees of W.H.S. happy and in order is the principal's job . . . Mr. Wartiainen. Even though his obligations keep him busy in his office, his door is always open to help in any way he can. Mr. Browns, the Assistant Principal, takes over all responsibilities in Mr. Wartiainen's absence. He is also in charge of the audio-visual aid equipment and attendance officer.

MR. DALE SCHLATTER



MR. CHARLES GALLUTIA

NEW SUPERINTENDENT INTRODUCED TO WHS

Although new to Willard, superintendent Dale Schlatter is not new to the field of education. Coming from a long line of fine schools, Mr. Schlatter has had many years of experience. Mr. Charles Gallutia, also new to the Willard school system, is the Assistant Superintendent. He cares for all transportation problems and food and sanitation problems. The Board of Education consists of five members of the community, a clerk, and the Superintendent of Schools. This year the members welcomed their newest member, Mr. Merle Frye. The board seeks to create a system which readily adapts itself to the specific needs of all students and faculty.

SEATED: Emerson Neumann, President; Helen Ellis, Clerk; Virginia Lydy, Dr. John Rosso. STANDING: Eugene McEndree, Merle Frye.

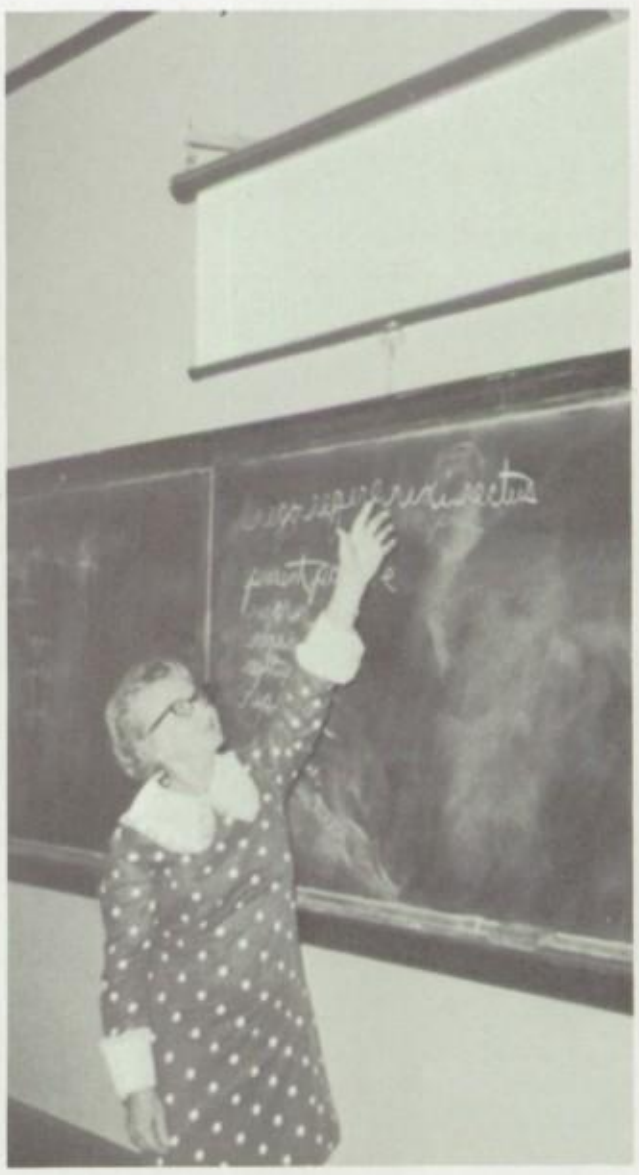
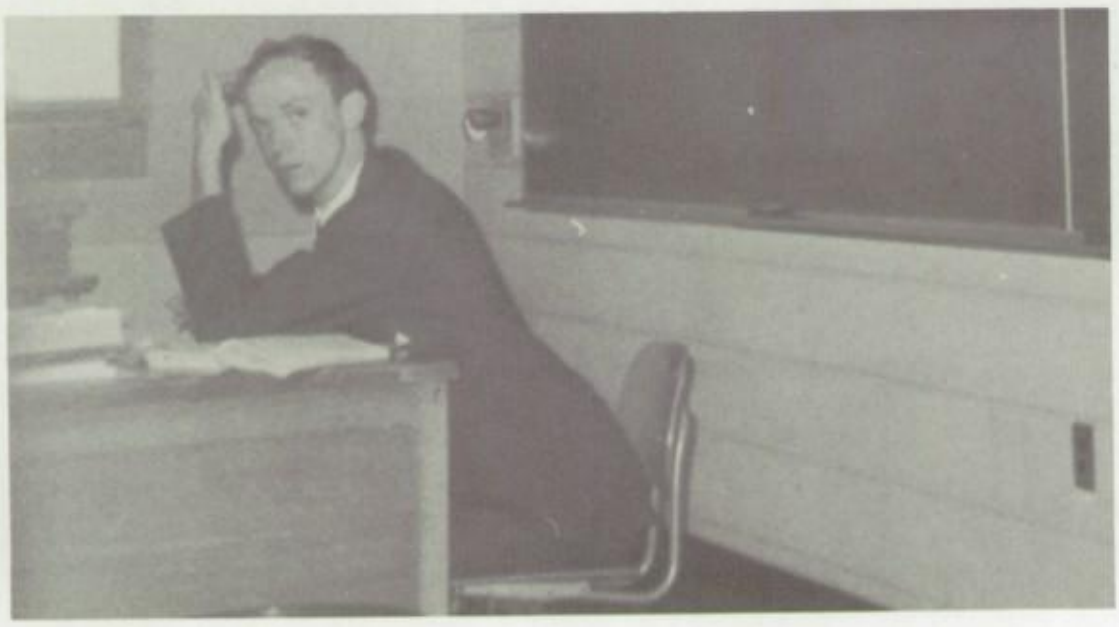
CAN WE COMMUNICATE? SI — OUI — YES!





Languages play an integral part in our daily lives. With so many universities offering third year studies abroad, foreign languages are becoming increasingly important to the high school student. English, of course, is emphasized as well as literature and compostiton.

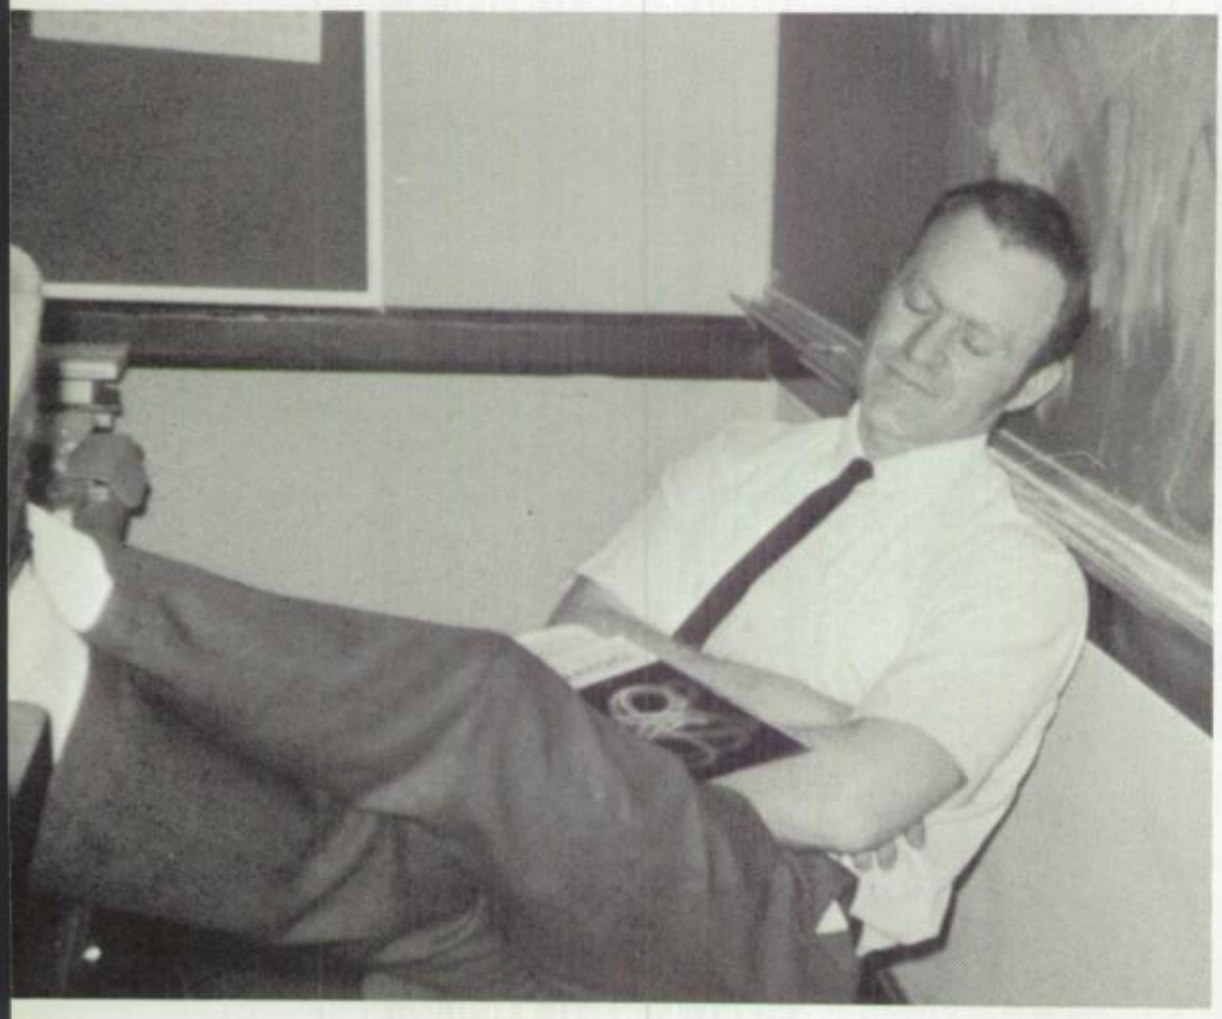
SCIENCES STRENGTHEN ACADEMIC PROGRAMS



Assumptions, theorems, equations. The world of mathematics is boundless. Equally as frustrating are the problems posed in science. A wave of nausea sweeps over the class as members dissect their first frog. Logarithms provide a great amount of puzzlement for algebra students. Rigamortis sets in as trig students take their final exams. It's all a part of the modern world of science at WHS.

HISTORY PROVIDES KEY TO PAST, PRESENT, FUTURE

It does not matter if one talks about Christopher Columbus discovering North America, World War I, or Neil Armstrong's words as he stepped on the moon this past July. It is all important, and it is all a part of history. Our history department presents a well rounded picture of world and American, as well as analogies of past eras. A nation's significance and an individual's significance are examined as the teacher and student work together to probe the scope.

GYM CLASSES STRIVE FOR AGILITY

Sore muscles and dirty gym clothes seem to be synonymous with physical education. For freshmen and sophoores, two or three periods a week are devoted to the state required subject. Some classes thrill to a fast game of volleyball, while others prefer to just stand around. But for everyone, a class without homework is welcome indeed.

Speech stresses another form of expression. Oh, to be able to talk one's self out of a jam. Or to be able to speak in front of a lot of people, period. The skills are all taught in speech.

The library currently houses many publications. When not being actively used as a hallway, the library doubles as a place of solitude for quiet study and relaxation.

FINE ARTS PROGRAMS GIVE STUDENTS A WIDE RANGE OF INTERPRETATION

The arts include a vast majority of students. Some paint, while others sing, or play an instrument, but all create. Art classes, show their work in the display cases and in an annual art show. The band and choir give students the chance to create an atmosphere with music. Music teachers are among the best liked in the school. The band students prove this to Mr. Zweidinger by forming a block "Z" formation at the final football game.

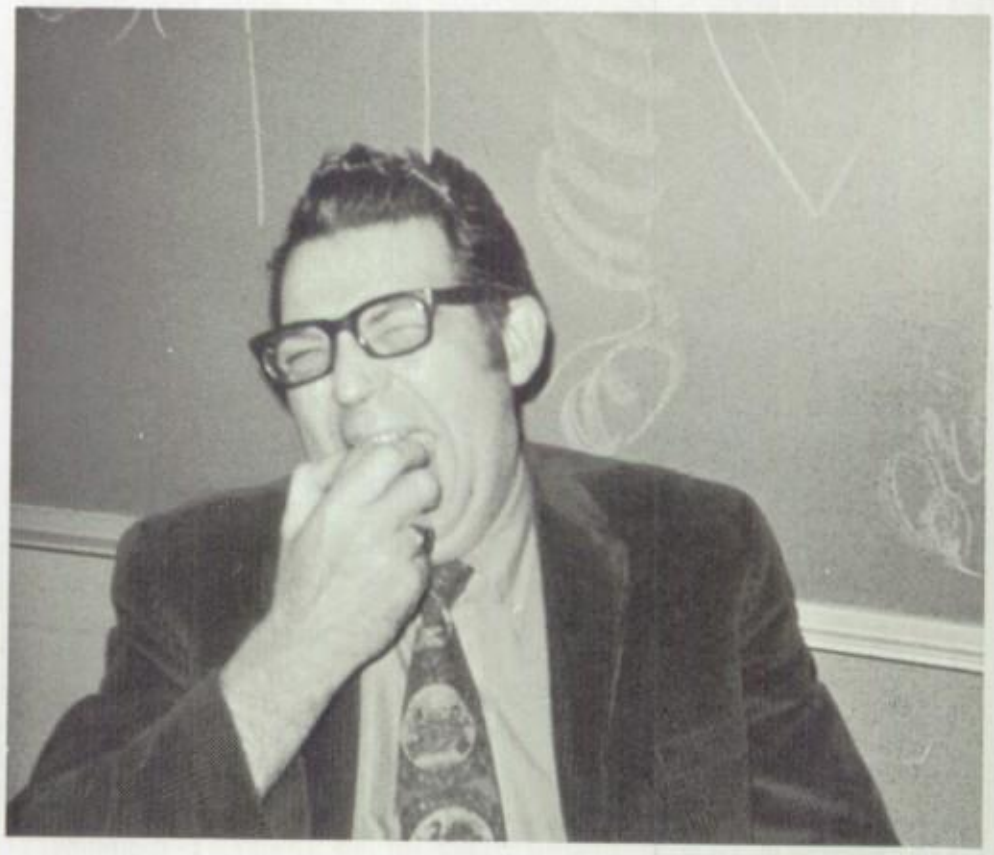
PRACTICAL ARTS STUDENTS LEARN BY DOING



Whether making a dress or finishing a cabinet, it's all a part of learning by doing. The thrill of creating a tangible object by applying skills learned in class. A freer atmosphere often accompanies these classes. Students are not as regimented as in dry, text-book learning.

END WORD

The other day, someone asked us when the yearbook was coming out. We muttered a quick, "I dunno. Prob'ly June of '73," as we retreated to our haven above the stairwell, birthplace of CHIEF '70.

This year, our goal was to make the yearbook as objective as possible, while creating a publication that would not be a carbon copy of past yearbooks. A prize should surely go to the person who cannot find fault with this book. We can.

Certainly not the work of two minds, the following people also sweat blood . . .

To the administration and students, to whom we tried to present the year as it happened, not as they would have liked it to have been.

To our many teachers, who daily let us roam the halls with cameras, layout sheets, and hopes.

To the staff, who put up with our constant procrastination and disorganization. They will have to bear the brunt of the punishment for what's printed herein.

To the Willard Times and Gary Hammock, who supplied several spur-of-the-moment shots to us.

To Mr. Mihali and Mr. Bement, who wasted hundreds of feet of film over our blunders. Thanks for many a fun Saturday. We know your studio like a book.

To Mr. Earl Parks, who introduced to us many of the innovations used in this book.

To the American Yearbook Company, for their patience in putting up with every missed deadline.

To the makers of "No-Doze", saviors of the 3:30 a.m. deadline parties. Right, Peg?

To Mr. Bowling . . . we'll be the death of him yet.

And to those men in Washington, for not copywriting yearbooks.

1970 — AND THE MEMORIES REMAIN . . .

when he is silent your heart ceases not to listen to his heart;

for without words, in friendship, all thoughts, all desires, all expectations are born and shared, with joy that is unacclaimed.

when you part from your friend, you grieve not;
for that which you love most in him may be clearer in his absence, as the mountain to the climber is clearer from the plain.
